MILITARY HOP DRAWS 2,000 TO CAPITOL

President Harding and General Egan Send Greetings to Ex-Service Men

Amid daylight scenes and midnight splendor the ninth annual Military Hop, the greatest in the history of the university, was held last night in the state capitol. One thousand medal-bedecked soldiers, sailors, marines and R. O. T. C. cadets accompanied by a thousand beautifully gowned young women combined to wile away four hours of enjoyment.

The reception was held at 8:15 in the governor's office with prominent state and university officials and the ball chairman and his assistants and their partners in the receiving line. The First Regimental band led by Major E. W. Murphy played during the reception.

Cadet Col. J. Calvin Wolfe and Miss Pearl Stewart led the grand march of 2,000 gaily dressed dancers through the capitol. At 9 o'clock Harry Sauthoff, the governor's private secretary, welcomed the service men in behalf of Gov. John J. Elaine, who was unable to attend, and the official ball picture was taken.

During the dancing, brilliant lights thrown from the balcony played through the marble interior combing on the brightly colored gowns and striking uniforms to make a gorgeous spectacle.

The President's Guard went through the silent manual with bugle accompaniment as special feature at 11 o'clock. Four cadets gave an exhibition, and the dancing continued.

Two of Thompson's orchestras played from a stand erected in the rotunda. Bright arc lights were used throughout the building to enable the staff to take motion pictures of the affair.

Letters of greeting were received from President Harding and Brig. Gen. W. G. Haan.

MEDICAL EXAMINERS' BILL ATTACKED DURING HEARING

Measure Based on Soviet Theory of Government, Says Skogmo; Dr. Bardeen Favors It

Sen. George Skogmo appeared before the committee on education and public welfare Thursday and denounced the bill to amend the law regarding appointments to the state board of medical examiners on the ground that it is based on the soviet theory of government.

The bill provides that lists of names be given to the governor by the state societies representing the various schools of medicine, and that the governor be required to make his appointments from these lists. Dr. F. N. Oum, osteopath, Oshkosh, appeared against the bill because, he said, under it the possibility of some of the schools of medical practitioners continuing to exist in the state would be endangered. Drs. R. W. Risley and A. S. Heggan, Madison, also objected to the bill.

NO DECLINE IN LEAF PRICES

The Tobacco Leaf Gives Reason for Retail Price Staying Up

In The Tobacco Leaf of February 3, is an article telling why retail prices are not affected by the decline in southern leaf tobacco and giving other facts which it feels that the public and press should know. After going into details the article summarizes the facts as follows:

That no increases in the retail prices of any tobacco products were made until three years after prices began advancing on other commodities.

That prices of tobacco products have not increased over 87 per cent maximum and on some types of tobacco products not over 13 per cent as compared with an average of 300 per cent on nearly all other commodities or with increases as high as 588 per cent on leaf tobacco; and that in no case were these advances on tobacco products sufficient to cover the increases in producing costs.

The prices on cigars, cigarettes and tobacco do not decline along with most other products for the same basic reason that they did not increase along with most other products, namely, because the raw material—leaf tobacco—is never suitable and is not available for manufacturing purposes until from one to three years after it passes from growers hands; and also, in the case of cigars, because the cigar types of leaf tobacco have not yet declined in price.

And, lastly, that a good part of the purchase price of every package of cigars, tobacco and cigars is the internal revenue tax—imposed by the war revenue law which is still in force; that the taxes on cigars, plus the duties on imported cigars or on the imported tobacco used in domestic cigars, run from about half a cent to over 9 cents on each cigar; that the taxes on cigarettes amount to 3 cents on each package of 10 and 6 cents on each package of 20, while the tax on tobacco is 1 1/2 cents on each ounce or 2 1/4 cents on each two-ounce package.

FIRE GUNS ON LAKE MENDOTA

Military Department Will Demonstrate Automatic Weapons

The lake will be cleared for a special demonstration of automatic weapons which will be held by the military department during the University Exposition as part of their exhibit. Automatic rifles, machine guns, and the use of the tracer bullet will all be shown at this time.

Two motion pictures will be shown in the military booths during the entire time the exposition is in progress. "New Glory for Old" is a picture taken of the work of the American signal corps in France. "America in the Air" will show views of American aircraft both in France and in the United States.

The whole exhibit of the military department will occupy two large booths. Radio and signal corps equipment will be set up in one booth, and messages will be received by radio and wireless telephone from the Physics department, according to Major J. S. Wood.

The ordinance booth will contain aircraft, bombs, machine guns, powders, explosives, shells, fuses and range finding instruments. The infantry department will display trench mortars, automatic rifles, and grenades.

An exhibit of field artillery, too large to be placed in the booths, will be shown outside the armory.

HEALTH BODY BILL CAUSES HOT DEBATE

Council Refers Ordinance After Hearing Arguments For and Against Proposal

By HENRY NOLL

The proposal to reorganize the city health department by increasing the membership from three to five, three of whom are to be citizens and one a woman, resulted in a discussion that kept the members of the council at their desks until nearly midnight Friday. No opposition appeared to the appointment of a full-time health officer but the phraseology of the ordinance, prepared by a committee of the Technical club and other civic organizations, caused some of the aldermen to oppose the measure.

The ordinance provides that the health officer be trained in health work and Ald. G. H. Mason, president of the health board, saw in this an attempt to eliminate Dr. H. E. Purcell, present officer, and import a trained man from the east. This was denied by Ford H. MacGregor who was called in by the committee of the civic organizations for advice, and by others who spoke. After a discussion of more than two hours the ordinance, together with a substitute offered by Ald. Mason, was referred back to the ordinance committee with instructions to report at the adjourned meeting, April 19. The Mason substitute provides for a full-time health officer and three members of the board, each to be an alderman and be appointed for one, two and three years terms. When the terms of the first two expire they would be re-appointed for three years.

Behrend Asks Reference

If the ordinance prepared by the civic organizations is adopted the board will consist of one alderman to be elected by the council, one member of the school board to be elected by the board and three citizens, one a woman, to be appointed by the mayor and approved by the council. After the ordinance had been read Ald. J. H. Behrend moved for its reference to give the members more time to become familiar with its provisions. Ald. R. F. Elver asked for similar action. This caused Ald. Gill to charge that an attempt was being made to stall on the ordinance and he insisted that the members be not afraid of the cars but dispose of the matter before the new council goes in. Ald. Mason spoke in high terms of Dr. Purcell and said he saw in the ordinance an attempt on the part of a coterie of people to eliminate Dr. Purcell from the position. He also charged that an ordinance he introduced a month ago, providing for three members of the board, two citizens and one woman, had been ignored by the ordinance committee. Ald. Behrend again insisted on his motion to refer but Mayor Kittleson declared that he did hear the alderman make such a motion. Gill and Mason Clash Ald. Gill maintained that Ald. Mason was unduly wrought up. "Never you mind Ald. Gill. Confine yourself to the question," retorted Ald. Mason. Ald. Gill insisted that he had a right to refer to Ald. Mason inasmuch as the latter had made charges against the committee. Mayor Kittleson rapped for order several times. Ald. Gill said he was not opposed to Dr. Purcell, that the doctor's name was not mentioned at the committee meeting and that the ordinance was slipped over on the committee by the people back of the ordinance. He asserted that the people outside of the council has as much right to voice their sentiment in regard to health matters as the members of the council. He stated that the ordinance was drafted by persons far superior in knowledge of matters of that kind than most members of the council, including himself. Mr. MacGregor explained that no attempt was being made to take the control of the health board out of the hands of the council or that those who drafted the measure had any design on Dr. Purcell. He said the council would have the control over at least four members, as one is to be elected by the council and three are to be appointed by the mayor subject to the approval of the aldermen that the election of a health officer and the fixing of his compensation must be approved by the council and that the council must provide the appropriations for the board.

James H. Feeny, an attorney, opposed a change in the present system. Others speaking for the ordinance besides Mr. MacGregor were Prof. C. J. Corp, N. J. Gray, M. H. Hoyer, Mrs. C. F. Lamb, the Woman's club, Dr. Dorothy Medenhall for the Parent-Teachers' association, and Mrs. Karl Young for the Civics club.

You can't improve on nature

The materials used in making MADKO POSTS are accurately measured and mixed. The posts are all made by machinery. There is no chance of some one making a poor mix. The form used in making the post is a steel mold and as the material is poured into the mold held in a vertical position, the mold is rapidly raised and lowered, or jostled, thus insuring a solid smooth post. The reinforcement consists of crimped steel wire, tied in the form of a circle and placed in the post near the outside, just where they must be to give the greatest strength from every point of contact.

Any kind of fence can be easily strung on these posts and easily taken off. There are no projections on the post to rust or break off and new fences can be put on MADKO POSTS fifty years from now just as well as when new. The post is round and tapering. NATURE'S SHAPE. Did you ever see a square tree, or corn-stalk, or anything else that grows to any height that is not cylindrical. Nature has adopted the best shape for resistance to strain, and we are not attempting to improve on nature.

The University of Wisconsin uses our posts. This should convince you that they are the best made.

DORT

Quality Goes Clear Through

Built Solidly to "Stand Up"

As you know the Dort has won a national name for its "stay put" qualities.

Observe especially the stalwart frame, the massive side members, the solid construction.

This over-size frame is particularly valuable in a light car such as the Dort because it keeps the car rigid under continuous road pounding.

Everywhere throughout the Dort structure where there is a working strain you find this over-size and over-strength.

Now you know why the Dort goes to the repair shop with such extraordinary infrequency.

It's built to "stay put" as veterans of the road phrase it.

And, observe please, how accessible it is.

Accessibility has always been a pronounced characteristic of the Dort.

Whenever your Dort does need a little "tuning up" or an adjustment here or there you don't have to disassemble the car.

One of the foremost thoughts of Dort engineers was to build the car so its owners could give it the ordinary service attention easily and inexpensively.

We are receiving requests daily for demonstration drives and we would like very much to arrange one for you.

PROF. LENHER LECTURES ON NEW SOLVENT

Discovers Practical Use for Selenium Exy-chloride

A week's series of lectures on his discoveries of the new uses of selenium and tellurium was recently given at the university of Nebraska, by Prof. Victor Lenher, of the department of chemistry, under the auspices of the university of Nebraska and of the Nebraska section of the American Chemical society.

Dr. Lenher, who is chairman of the committee of the National Research council on the uses of selenium and tellurium, is the discoverer of the great solvent properties of selenium oxychloride, a discovery which has brought him a thousand inquiries since his first announcement at the St. Louis meeting of the American Chemical society last April.

Selenium oxychloride is the most powerful solvent now known to science. It dissolves rubber, glue, enamels, hydro-carbons, and such products as remanel, bakelite, and condense, which are used as substitutes for amber in making tobacco pipes and other industrial purposes and were formerly considered insoluble in all known solvents. Experimentation on the solvent has just begun, according to Dr. Lenher and the 24 graduate students who are working with him on this compound.

SUSPEND SENIOR FOR DISHONESTY

Faculty Discipline Committee Acts on Cases of 12 Students

In the period from March 11 to April 4, the Committee on Discipline took the following action:

A senior in the Course in Chemistry, found guilty of dishonesty in Chemistry 251, is suspended indefinitely from the university. The committee had evidence before it that he had been dishonest in four other courses in the university; that he had been dishonest in his high school work; that he had been suspended for dishonesty by another college, and on repeating the offense after readmission, had been expelled; and that he had entered the university on a falsified record, involving the forgery of the names of two officials of another college. It was therefore recommended to the executive committee of the College of Letters and Science that his admission to the university and all credits earned here be cancelled.

Two freshmen in Commerce found guilty of misconduct in a final examination in Economics 8a, must do six extra credits toward graduation, and are placed on probation to the end of the year.

Two juniors in Commerce found guilty of misconduct in a final examination in Economics 181, must do six extra credits toward graduation, and are placed on probation to the end of the year.

A freshman in the Middle Ages course must do eight extra credits toward graduation and is placed on probation to the end of the year.

A freshman in L. C. S. must do five extra credits toward graduation for dishonesty in French 10b.

A freshman in Commerce, found guilty of dishonesty in English 1a, must do six extra credits toward graduation. It was further recommended to the Executive committee of the College of Letters and Science that he be dropped.

Frank Stroud has moved from Madison to the Amundson Loebel farm, which he will work, together with tobacco land for J. H. Johnson. Mr. Stroud formerly worked for H. Halvorson.

The Madison tuberculosis sanitarium has more patients than ever, and exports to build tents to care for more.

L. A. Harrison has moved to Edwards park for the summer. He had vacated the farm he sold to Martin Ellestad, who has now moved on. Mr. Harrison's new home, just east of Sever Thompson, is now nearly completed.

Even Ellestad has sold his farm on the Cottage Grove road and bought his brother's interest in the old home where he will reside with his mother.

A Striking New Jordan-Distinctive and Irresistible

THIS is to announce a strikingly new and thoroughly interesting Jordan car.

Those admirable people whom we love to please will quickly acclaim it prophetic of the days to come.

Timid ones, we know, will call us daring.

This is the penalty of style leadership.

Jordan owners encouraged us to do this unusual thing.

They have freely predicted the passing of the drab, common-place in motor cars, and the dominance of the mechanically excellent, distinctively dressed and brightly personal car of the future.

So we have produced this irresistible new Jordan Silhouette Special for the spring and summer of 1921.

It is finished from the tip of the top to the tire rim in Crane Simplex Gray—chassis, fenders, fillers, lamps and all painted; with fat spokes and sturdy wheels in English Vermillion to lighten it on its way.

The top of the new slender custom type is done in snappy Tatelec, a special electrically treated material as durable as good leather. Yet you have your choice of Never-leak if you prefer it.

The upholstery is in keeping—expensive leather from Cordova harmonizes in color and softness in this distinctive car.

Better Dressed Cars

The public wants cars that are better dressed, cars with a distinctive individual touch, as personal as good taste and judgment will permit.

The body is finished in an interesting way—a common sense idea you will say when you see it and know how it has stood the test of time.

AT THE FULLER

To be recognized as one of the world's greatest singers within one year after graduation from the Boston conservatory of music—this was the record Bettina Freeman made ten years ago. Her voice had attracted attention from the day she entered the conservatory and she was under contract to the Boston Opera Co. while she was still a pupil. She sang with Caruso, Farrar, Alda and other great stars during her first year. Hammerstein heard of her and the following season she went to London as the leading dramatic soprano for his season at Covent Garden. For the past two years she has been with the San Carlo Opera Co. and will be heard here during the engagement of the San Carlo company at the Fuller next Monday evening.

DEEP RIVER NEGRO SPIRITUAL

The Biblical saying, "The stone which the builders rejected is become the head of the corner," seems to be proving true of negro and Indian music. More and more our composers are turning to these native songs and dances with their highly original melodies and rhythms, in order to give to their compositions a characteristic American or national atmosphere. Negro music is peculiarly rich in religious themes and Deep River is a superb example.

These negro melodies, intricate in rhythm, and forceful in their harmony, probably came to these people as a part of their African heritage, although they were influenced by church music in this country. Here in America the slaves developed the African themes by the addition of harmonies and the quaint texts expressive of religious fervor and life in its various forms on the plantation. The songs thus became the expression of their hopes and desires in whatever phase of life they happened to be. To this extent they are distinctly American. All most all of the new songs preserved are of a religious nature and are called "Spirituals". Both Deep River and Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, which won the contest last year, are typical examples—the one stately and sustained, the other vigorous and almost conversational. They breathe a hope and a faith in the ultimate justice and brotherhood of man. This is the significance of the phrase "camp-ground over Jordan"; death is to bring the slave freedom and happiness "over there".

Keenly sensitive by reason of his racial heritage to the inner meanings of these songs, it has been given to Harry T. Burleigh to arrange and present them to the American public. Of these probably the most appealing is his arrangement of Deep River. There we find expressed effectively and strikingly that age-long desire dominating a people who see in their religion alone a deliverance from the things of this life here has seemed to deny them. Burleigh, born of negro parentage, has won an enviable place among the musicians of America by dint of sheer ability and indefatigable effort in overcoming the obstacles that beset him. His compositions are widely known and he stands preeminently as the great interpreter of the folk music of the American negro. One critic has said, in commenting upon his work, "This man is a composer by divine right and, what is more, he is a thinker; a man who writes music because he feels profoundly in the language of tone. He is contributing to American art song examples of creative music that deserve world wide attention and respect."

The 23rd selection in last year's contest was The Swan by Camille Saint-Saens.

Twenty-fourth of 28 Daily Selections For Monday, April 11
THE ROSARY, by NEVIN (1862-1901)

If it is true that there is no critic so severe as time, Nevin's Rosary must be classed as a worthy song. It has outlived thousands of songs, has now passed its quarter century mark, and is still widely popular. It is a good example of America's simpler and better love songs. Ethelbert Nevin, known best by his melodious Narcissus, was represented in last year's contest by his tuneful duet "Oh That We Two Were Maying". All of his compositions display smooth and graceful themes and while they never reach great heights, it must be remembered that the composer has elected to restrict himself to small forms. The intimate attitude of Nevin toward his work is shown by the story of how he composed The Rosary. He was away from home, in New York, where he received a letter from a friend enclosing a copy of the poem. After having read the first line his imagination was aroused and the very next day he sent the manuscript to his wife in Pittsburgh with the note "Just a little souvenir to let you know how I thank le bon Dieu for giving me you".

In spite of its name the song is not religious in character. It merely borrows from the church that idea of a rosary or string of beads used in many religions as a reminder of prayers to be said. The pleasant hours are represented by the beads; the sacrifice which must come in every career is represented by the cross or crucifix.

The music is skillfully constructed so as to be easily remembered and learned and still to be different enough to hold the interest and adequately express the changing ideas in the poem. There are three verses, each having four phrases. In each verse the first two phrases are the same, the one being an exact repetition of the other. The third phrase is also the same in each verse, although it is different from the first two. The fourth phrase, however, is changed in each verse to suit the three varied ideas—the first verse expressing tender devotion ("my rosary! my rosary!"), the second, bitter dismay ("And there a cross is hung"), and the third resolute determination to accept the sacrifice ("To kiss the cross, sweetheart!"). Another means of increasing the interest is found in the accompaniment which, after being the same simple succession of chords for the first two verses, present a pleasing and flowing counter melody in the third verse, as the second voice were turning the song into a duet. The 24th selection in last year's contest was Polonaise Militaire by Frederic Chopin.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America.

The One True Test

The one sure way to determine actual motor car value is by a thorough, exhaustive demonstration.

In the show room, you can tell at a glance whether a car satisfies your artistic demands. The next step, then, is to get out on the road and discover what lies under the hood. Power, Speed and Endurance are qualities of action that only a ride can establish.

We suggest just this course in judging any Paige 6-66 model. We go one step further, however, and invite you to compare it with any other car—at any price—on the American market. Take the comparative demonstrations first. Then inspect the price tags.

Paige, remember, is the stock car speed champion of the world. And the motor that you will find under a 6-66 hood belongs to Paige and Paige alone. Don't forget that.

POINTERS ON HOME MAKING

Concrete is Rot Proof and Fireproof; A True Investment

To many persons a house means "home". To every right thinking person a home is more than a mere house. When we build a home we usually think that we have finished one of our life's dreams. But some of us have realized, in looking at our home, that all we built was a house.

A home must furnish comfort, must give pleasure. We would hate to think that our health would not be safeguarded in our home. We would want it to be sanitary. We would not like to think that our home would be easy prey of fire and decay. We would like our house to be built that it would be cool in summer and not hard to heat in winter. If we have built truly fireproof, we need not insure the house; and, if it is fireproof, a low insurance rate on its contents may be secured—more profit and security from our wise choice. If built of the right material it will be vermin-proof and ratproof.

Contrary to the impressions of many people, concrete stone is not a "substitute" building material. It possesses individuality, it can be used wherever—and for whatever purpose—any of the other common house-building materials have been or can be used. Concrete stone stands for all those qualities which have been summed up.

Concrete stone cannot rot. It is sanitary, vermin-proof, ratproof, cyclone-proof and fireproof. A concrete stone house needs no painting nor any of the other repairs and maintenance necessary to impermanent construction. Concrete stone houses represent the true investment side of home building.

Wood window frames, doors and other interior trim may be used in concrete stone houses, but metal trim, and fireproof window frames, sash and doors are preferable. Wood floors may be laid on top of concrete floors, or linoleum may be used; but the concrete floor, properly finished, is best. It may be built so that very pleasing surface finish will result, and by simple treatment can be made ideal for dancing.

TEACHER RUNS TRACTOR ALONE

To make us marvel at scientific achievement, many incidents of small boys driving the Wallis tractor is accomplishing more than 3 men and 9 mules formerly did, have been told.

Few have narrated records made by girls, but there is a Badger state school teacher who does real farming as well as real school room work.

Such an accomplished lady is Miss Adelaide Gerond of Isaar. The help shortage is as serious there as in other parts of the country, so Miss Gerond took a hand last spring even before her school closed. In the evening, after school she would climb on the Wallis and get the plowing, harrowing, and seeding well along before dark. In no other way could so much work have been done. The Wallis has made it possible for many such workers to take the places who have left the farm.

ALL CHAIRMEN OF CITY RETAIL TRADE TO MEET APRIL 12

Trade chairmen of the various lines in retail trade in Madison have been asked to attend a meeting at the offices of the Association of Commerce, April 12 at 8 o'clock by Harry Williams, Director chairman of the retail trade extension committee.

"The purpose is to discuss general trade problems with the object in view of getting the various lines to co-operate in pushing Madison forward as a retail and distributing center," said Chairman Williams.

Following the plan which seems most effective of getting various groups to meeting regularly, the lumber dealers and druggists met yesterday at the A. of C. and discussed their problems and the party they can play in developing the city. The retail grocers are planning a program of co-operative selling, buying in large quantities and giving the public the benefit of such buying. Among the lines meeting regularly are: dry goods and ready-to-wear stores, clothiers, hardware, automobile and accessory dealers, doctors, dentists, grocers, shoe dealers, furniture dealers, implement men, druggists and lumber dealers.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 17 years of age, popular with both the fellows and girls in my town and have a good reputation, and still something puzzles me very much.

I go to a dance about once a week, and through my friends I meet a good many fellows from out of town. They all seem to like me very well and are anxious to call. As I have no desire for steady company I let different ones come; that is, if I know they are respectable. It seems they are wild about me the first few times they are with me, but after that they stop calling. When I meet them they are always friendly, but don't seem to have any desire to be with me again.

I see no reason for this whatever and want to know if you can understand why they assume this attitude.

M. J. H.
You seem to lack fascination. Many girls are good-looking, good dancers and good company for two or three times, but upon the third meeting the man discovers that the girl is just the same and shows no new depth in her character.

At your age I think you are making a mistake in going with young men from out of town. To do so will injure your reputation and show that you are not particular enough about the people with whom you associate.

Do not make popularity your aim; it is too empty. It is better to have a few choice friends than any number who are promiscuous in their attentions to girls.

It should be needless for me to caution you against "spooning," doubtless you know my views on that subject already.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl and deeply in love with a young man about six years my senior and as far as I can see he loves me just as much. We are now engaged, but there is one great difference between us, and that is he is one of the wealthiest men in New York at the present time and I am only a girl of the middle class.

My mother has always said that she would never give any of her daughters permission to marry a man so much higher in social life as my fiance is, and because of this I am afraid to ask her consent to our marriage.

I have met his parents and they seem to be delighted with their son's choice. I have promised to run away with him sometime—this coming spring.

Have I done right? Ought I to marry a man so much higher in life? What should I do?

I have gone to many dinners and dances with him, but my mother will not permit me to have pretty party dresses and as you cannot go to these affairs without them, I have permitted him to furnish the dress on each occasion. Is it wrong to do so. I thought it was, but his sisters insist that it is right for my fiance to buy these trifles.

SUGAR PLUMB.
So much depends upon your age. If you are in your twenties you are old enough to decide the matter of choosing a husband yourself. If, however, you are younger, your parents are wiser in their judgments and their opinions should not be disregarded. If you and your fiance have congenial tastes, the fact that he is of a higher station in life need make little difference.

Do not accept clothes from him. A girl of good breeding would not.

"Baby Dimples." I would not advise you to go riding with the young man. If he has so much to tell you about the reason he likes you, let him tell you so at your home. From what you have said I do not trust him.

AT THE PALACE

A torrent in the Santa Barbara mountains furnished the location for a "cutback" in Harry Carey's latest photoplay, "Hearts Up!" coming to the Palace Theatre Sunday and Monday. Two dozen people, three cameras, several horses and pack mules camped for several days in an unfrequented canyon to obtain a scene which runs less than a minute on the screen.

AT THE ORTON

The endless search for feminine beauty by motion picture producers has brought a new star into the screen world in the person of Hope Hampton, a young woman who won a reputation while still in private life as Texas' most beautiful woman. She is now at the head of her own company and has just completed her initial photoplay as a star, "A Modern Salome," which is the feature attraction at the Orton Theatre for Sunday.

AT THE STRAND

Mack Sennett's "Small Town

MILDRED ROGERS

AND HER QUARTETTE OF DANCERS IN "STEP LIVELY" AT ORPHEUM

Idol," featuring Ben Turpin, Marie Prevost, and Phyllis Haver, is being shown at the Strand Theatre for the last times today.

Passionately and madly in love with the village belle, Phyllis Haver, Ben's troubles begin at the close of the very first episode, which shows a crowd at a race-track with Ben the jockey hero riding at brief notice to a victory.

His triumph is quickly turned to disgrace by the machinations of J. Wellington Jones (James Finlayson) who, with his henchmen and fellow-plotters, succeeds in damaging the reputation of the small town idol so that he is forced to flee to the city.

In the city Ben has no better luck than in the country. An evil genius still pursues him and he seeks death. He believes he will find succor from his sorrows in a self-inflicted finish that shall not leave behind him the appearance of suicide. He "doubles" for the hero of a thrilling motion picture in a climax scene wherein the noble youth is shown plunging from a bridge to the waters, hundreds of feet beneath. By some mischance, Ben's dive is a great success. He can't even commit suicide, and, greatly against his will, he is given the hero's role and so finishes out the great "western thriller," the heroine of which is the piquant Marie Prevost. It is in the "picture within a picture," incidentally, that the grand aggregation of beauty, referred to in the opening paragraphs, is shown in a pageantry of perfect loveliness.

AT THE FULLER.

"Don't Neglect Your Wife!," the Goldwyn picture now being shown at the Fuller Theatre, is the first story written directly for the screen by one of America's greatest living woman writers, Gertrude Atherton. As in her books, so in this photoplay, Mrs. Atherton gives us the problems of a beautiful, young married woman who has been disillusioned in her husband and has found herself caring for a distinguished editor. The domestic triangle is solved in a very plausible manner, but with a dramatic intensity impossible to attain when the characters involved are the usual flappers one sees too often on the screen.

After all, the mature woman, with her ability to cope with life, is a far more interesting screen subject than a girl whose sole appeal lies in her prettiness. But in Mrs. Atherton's story, the wife happens to be the beautiful Mabel Julianne Scott; the husband, that excellent actor, Charles Clay; and the other man, Lewis S. Stone; all three of whom give sterling performances which make the story take on the semblance of flesh and blood.

THE GRAND.

"Passion" the ten reel super special depicting the romance of the little French milliner whom the world came to know as Du Barry, which has been playing at the Grand since Sunday, will close its engagement to-night. Pola Negri, the continental star who appears in the leading role, has won a host of admirers by her masterful portrayal of Du Barry, and should she appear in any future screen production, she will receive a warm welcome from the local movie fans.

Miss Norma Wood, Kansas City, Mo., is a week end guest at Chadbourne hall.

MOLIERE COMEDY TO BE GIVEN BY FRENCH STUDENTS

A picked cast of French students will present Moliere's comedy, "Le Medecin Malgre lui," popular at the Comedie Francaise in Paris last year, April 27, in the concert room of Lathrop hall.

The comedy was chosen because the lively action and fun are so obvious that they are intelligible even to those who are unfamiliar with French. The plot unfolds the adventures of an innocent young man who is forced to be a doctor in spite of himself, and is ordered to cure a love-lorn maiden who is pretending, dumbness because her ambitious father will not let the course of her true love run smoothly.

TO GIVE BANNERS FOR AUTOMOBILES

In an effort to place the University Exposition before all of the people of the state, special banners for automobiles will be distributed free of charge at the office in the Union building, this afternoon.

These banners are made of muslin, and are one and a half by three feet in size. All those who have machines are requested by the committee to get one of these banners, which are specially designed to be placed on the back of automobiles.

SHIFT LINEUP FOR BALL TILT WITH CAMPION

But Wilders Play Second Game at Randall
Today

A shifted Wisconsin lineup will take the field against the Campion college nine in the second preliminary baseball game of the season at Randall today. The contest, scheduled with Milton college yesterday was postponed indefinitely because wet grounds made fast play impossible.

The Badger outfield will remain the same for today's game with the exception of the left field position, which "Rollie" Williams has displaced Hardell. Williams has the position on Hardell because of his speed on bases and his ability to track the pitchers for a walk. In center field, Carl Cooser has practically clinched a regular place, and now is billed to perform in the next game.

The biggest shifts in the Badger lineup are in the infield. Lyman, second baseman, has been replaced by Captain "Rowdy" Elliott, who has been transferred from his usual shortstop position. "Chuck" Ruescher is the newcomer in the infield. He will be stationed at third base, and Farrington will take Elliott's job at shortstop.

Allan Davey is slated to catch against the collegians, but Coach Guy S. Lowman is undecided in his choice of a pitcher. Either Allan Davey or Charles Paddock, who is the freshman team last year, will do the mound work for Wisconsin.

Team in Good Shape
With the exception of a few sore arms, the team is in good condition after its easy win over Northwest college. Weakness in base running was the major fault of Wisconsin players in the initial contest, but Coach Lowman expects to overcome this before the regular Big Ten baseball season starts.

The Badgers fielded well, and several of their live catches can be ascribed to the poor condition of the field. Bunched hits which gave Wisconsin an early lead over Northwestern showed that the Badgers can swing the ball in the gloves, but the total of nine safe hits, only one of which went for more than one base, has caused Coach Lowman to devote more attention to stickwork.

The men showed up well in this early season game against Northwestern, said Coach Lowman, on Friday afternoon. "But their base running and hitting can be considerably improved. The players seemed to lack alertness, and only two men were successful in stealing bases. The fielding was good, considering the handicap of a muddy field, but a wide-awake interest in the game and more pep is needed before Wisconsin begins the long grind of a conference schedule."

Today's contest will be the first for Campion college which has an untired team. The Campion nine ranks with the best in the Wisconsin "Little Five" athletic conference and is expected to give the Badgers a close battle.

The Wisconsin batting order follows:
R. Williams, 1st; Ceaser, 2nd; Davey, 3rd; Elliott, 4th; J. Williams, 5th; Farrington, 6th; Duediger, 7th; Snow, 8th; Miller or Paddock, 9th.

WRESTLING COACH

GRAPPLES TONIGHT

After being defeated in 36 minutes by the "Mysterious Conductor" Charley Challenger, former world champion lightweight wrestler, Coach George T. Hitchcock, Wisconsin wrestling instructor has challenged Challenger to a finish match, two falls out of three, to be held tonight at the Elks' circus.

The "Mysterious Conductor" eagerly accepted the deft, and will meet Hitchcock for the second time to decide supremacy.

On Thursday Coach Hitchcock surrendered to the traveling grappler after Challenger had subjected him to a series of painful toeholds, from which Hitchcock was unable to escape. He was severely punished. In the match tonight, the toe hold and all grips which border on the edge of illegality will be barred.

Miss Thelma Bigelow, Omaha, Neb., is visiting her sister, Miss Portia Bigelow, 202 N. Park street.

ARE PHILLIES DOOMED FOR BASEMENT ONCE MORE? LOOKS THAT WAY NOW

The acquisition of Jimmy Ring, pitcher, and Greasy Neale, outfielder, from the Reds and a couple of likely looking rookies compose the only changes made in the makeup of the tail-end Phillies. Which means that Wild Bill Donovan will have to be a miracle man to make anything besides a tail-ender out of the club. The Phillies finished last year with a percentage of .406 last year.

Torney of the Short Horn Breeders' association, in an address to the Saddle and Siroin club, Thursday evening, April 7. "At the present time it takes one bushel of corn to pay the freight on three bushels of corn from Omaha to Chicago. MARKETS

WHEAT TRADING STOCK PRICES IS LIGHT TODAY LOWER TODAY

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO—Depressing economic news from England and scattered selling at the start was responsible for a bearish wheat market at the start Saturday. The trading was light and the greater part of the early decline was recovered. The Pacific coast reported 200,000 bushels of wheat sold to Japan yesterday and crop reports were favorable to the bears. Opening quotations which varied from 1/2 cent lower to 1/4 cent higher with May 1.35 1/2 and July 1.11 1/2. The market was followed by slight declines and then somewhat of a reaction.

Corn

Corn acted rather firm, with a lack of selling pressure and rather after a small break early. After starting unchanged to 1/4 cents higher, the market was followed by slight declines and then somewhat of a reaction.

Oats

Oats sympathized with other cereals and although firm at the beginning suffered from absence of selling pressure. After starting 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 cent higher including July 38 1/2, quotations hovered around the opening.

Provisions

Higher quotations on hogs was responsible for the strength in provisions.

Dear sir:

Referred to the Finance Committee.

The Clerk reported the application of Casper Tantiello for permission to put in a gasoline tank and pump on lot 1, block 1, corner of the intersection of Washington and Regent street.

Referred to the Committee on Streets.

The following report was submitted by J. Smith, superintendent of water works:

To the Mayor and Common Council, City of Madison.

Gentlemen:

In accordance with a resolution passed at the last meeting of the Council, I have received bids on the publishing of the report of the City Engineer and the Superintendent of Water Works for the years 1918, 1919 and 1920. Three bids were received as follows:

Wich & Strauss.....$1,150.00
 Castwell Printing Co.....954.00
 Demarest Printing Co.....900.00

The Democrat Printing Company is the lowest bidder, and in addition they are willing to furnish an additional fifty copies of the report without extra charge.

There was provided in the budget a sum of $320.00, which is only enough for the printing of one year's report. I have discussed the matter with the City Auditor and he suggests that the balance can be taken from the continuing fund of the Water Department.

I therefore recommend that the contract be awarded to the Democrat Printing Company on their bid of $900.00, and that $324.00 of the $320.00 in the Water Department contingent fund be appropriated for this purpose in addition to the $320.00 allowed in the budget.

Respectfully submitted,

L. A. SMITH,

Superintendent.

The contract was accepted by the Democrat Printing Co., as recommended, by a unanimous vote, on call of the ayes and noes.

The Plumbing Inspector submitted the following report:

Monona Park Committee, City of Madison.

Gentlemen:

In re Monona Park Chemical Closet installation.

In answer to your request of the 22nd inst. please be advised that a number of observations were made during the year 1920 pertaining to the building and general sanitary conditions in connection with the above named toilet facilities.

Most of these complaints were reported by women attending picnics or parties at the grounds. The conditions observed on certain days were due mostly to inadequate ventilation, and failure of the agitator (whose purpose was to mix the chemicals) to work properly.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. Extend the vent stack to a point well above the trees and surround with a vent hood of the siphonic type.
2. To repair the agitator in connection with the ladies toilet chemical tank.
3. Refrain from using so-called deodorizers which serve no purpose other than that of covering an offensive odor with that of a more intense one. This, however, does not apply to disinfectants as may be advantageously used in connection with washing walls, floors, door knobs, etc.

4. Give the entire system operation care as set forth in the Wisconsin Chemical Closet Code.

5. Lay down specific rules to be followed by the attendant in caring for the station and equipment in connection therewith and demand compliance.

The Democrat Printing Company is the lowest bidder, and in addition they are willing to furnish an additional fifty copies of the report without extra charge.

There was provided in the budget a sum of $320.00, which is only enough for the printing of one year's report. I have discussed the matter with the City Auditor and he suggests that the balance can be taken from the continuing fund of the Water Department.

I therefore recommend that the contract be awarded to the Democrat Printing Company on their bid of $900.00, and that $324.00 of the $320.00 in the Water Department contingent fund be appropriated for this purpose in addition to the $320.00 allowed in the budget.

Respectfully submitted,

L. A. SMITH,

Superintendent.

The contract was accepted by the Democrat Printing Co., as recommended, by a unanimous vote, on call of the ayes and noes.

The Plumbing Inspector submitted the following report:

Monona Park Committee, City of Madison.

Gentlemen:

In re Monona Park Chemical Closet installation.

In answer to your request of the 22nd inst. please be advised that a number of observations were made during the year 1920 pertaining to the building and general sanitary conditions in connection with the above named toilet facilities.

Most of these complaints were reported by women attending picnics or parties at the grounds. The conditions observed on certain days were due mostly to inadequate ventilation, and failure of the agitator (whose purpose was to mix the chemicals) to work properly.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. Extend the vent stack to a point well above the trees and surround with a vent hood of the siphonic type.
2. To repair the agitator in connection with the ladies toilet chemical tank.
3. Refrain from using so-called deodorizers which serve no purpose other than that of covering an offensive odor with that of a more intense one. This, however, does not apply to disinfectants as may be advantageously used in connection with washing walls, floors, door knobs, etc.

4. Give the entire system operation care as set forth in the Wisconsin Chemical Closet Code.

5. Lay down specific rules to be followed by the attendant in caring for the station and equipment in connection therewith and demand compliance.

New Taxes of Four Billion Will be Levied on the American Consumers.

NEW taxes estimated at more than $4,000,000,000 will be laid upon the backs of American consumers by the Congress which meets on Monday, if the plan for a general sales tax is adopted. Of this outlook Congressman James A. Frear, of Wisconsin, says:

"The proposed turnover sales tax that raised for the government $1,000,000,000 annually will take from consumers more than $4,000,000,000. Official reports claim that 3,000,000 workers were without jobs in January, with their dependents, all of whom are consumers. With this situation let us inquire who will be relieved by the proposed tax shift, who are demanding a consumers' tax, and what will be the effect on the country, what price will be paid—economic and political?"

In the course of a long address to Congress on Jan. 31, Mr. Frear discovers that the propaganda in favor of a sales tax is inspired entirely by bankers who demand that Congress abolish the excess profits tax which they now have to pay and substitute a sales tax which the poorer masses will have to pay. He identifies a group of New York bankers headed by Otto Kahn as the chief propagandists.

Sen. Smoot has drafted this new tax upon the masses and will push it with all his skill and influence in the senate. Strong opposition to the measure exists in the house, where every member comes up for re-election two years hence, while Smoot will not have to face the voters for six years to come.

Much interest is felt among business men and others in a new scheme of taxation which is being pushed by the Committee of Manufacturers and Merchants, whose plan is embodied in the Ralston-Nolan Bill, introduced at the last session. This measure contemplates a uniform tax of 1 per cent on all land holdings, after deducting for all improvements and granting an exemption of $10,000.

Advocates of this bill point out that while the two main divisions of property in the United States, land values and industrial values, are approximately equal—$140,000,000,000 each—industry pays nearly $4,000,000,000 yearly in taxes, while land pays only $600,000,000.

An active member of the Committee of Manufacturers and Merchants which is backing the Ralston-Nolan bill is Frederick F. Ingram, a wealthy drug manufacturer of Detroit, who is now in charge of the committee's Washington bureau. Mr. Ingram said of the measure:

"A 1 per cent tax on property, after improvements are deducted, will not be a burden to producing property, but it will force absentee landlords and holders of idle property for speculative purposes either to develop their holdings or to sell them to someone who will. Aside from readjusting the present tax burdens to a more equitable basis, the Ralston-Nolan bill will tend to check farm tenantry and to break up monopolies in natural resources.

"I very much fear that the sales tax will prove injurious to industry just as increased transportation charges have harmed instead of helping the railroads. The sales tax is unscientific; it can be passed on to the public in a constantly mounting sum, and it is certain to act as a check on industry.

"Taxation is the most serious problem that confronts Congress and it never will be settled until it is settled right. The Ralston-Nolan bill offers the sanest Federal program that has ever been proposed. Organized labor favors the bill, for Jackson H. Ralston, its author, is attorney for the American Federation of Labor, and the progressive farmers are also advocating the measure as they come to understand that its exemptions eliminate at least 95 per cent of the actual tillers of the soil from its operations.

"This law would tax idleness instead of industry, equalize existing tax burdens and strongly tend to break up monopolies. The Committee of Manufacturers and Merchants on Federal Taxation intend to incorporate this bill in the statute books of the nation if it is humanly possible, and we will not permit the passage of the burdensome and iniquitous sales tax if we can prevent it."

CARROLL COLLEGE GLEE CLUB PRESENTS PLEASING CONCERT

By P. B. L.

The Carroll College band, a jazz band of six instruments, played with "pep" by enthusiastic musicians who were dressed as clowns, was the novelty of the program given by the Carroll glee club from Waukesha at the Christ Presbyterian church last evening.

A delightful program, well balanced, ranging from popular and classical numbers to dramatic sketches was given to Madison lovers of talent.

The glee club sang in clear well modulated voices, which showed ability. "The Night is Still," a song by Clark, deserves special praise for the fine expression and harmony. Other songs rendered included, "Carmena Waltz," by Wilson; "Annipotence" by Schubert; and "Hark! The Trumpet Calls" by Buck.

worth and showed the fine training of their director, Frank Ormsby, lyric tenor, when they sang, "Thinking of Thee," by Drusler, and "One Fleeting Hour" by Dorothy Lee, in blended, harmonious voices.

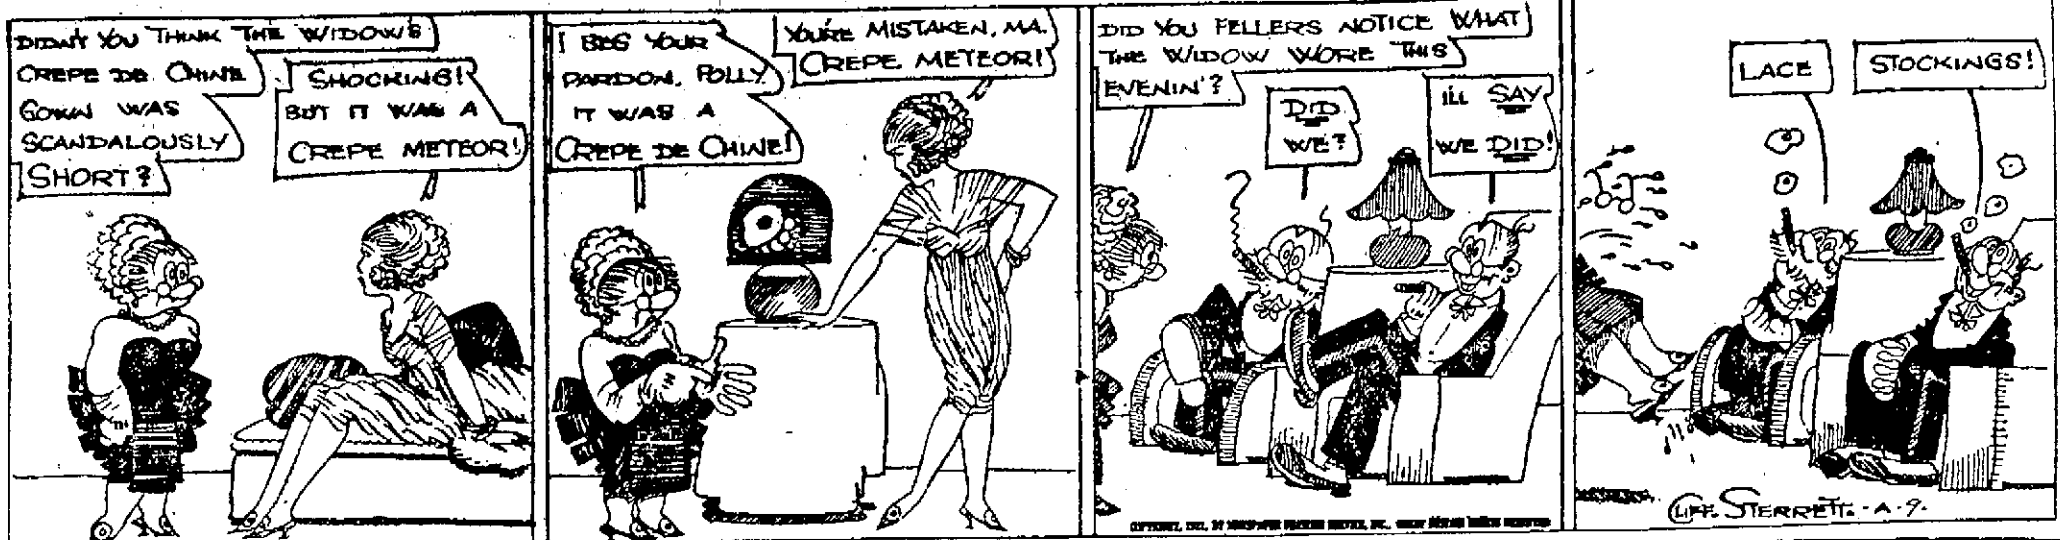

"Because I Love You," a song by Hawley, sung by Maurice Swain was rendered in a clear pleasing manner.

Freitag is publicity manager of the Octopus, and is actively engaged in work on the University Exposition. He was a member of the Who's Who staff last year. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and of Inner Gate.

WOMEN'S LITERARY SOCIETIES MEET

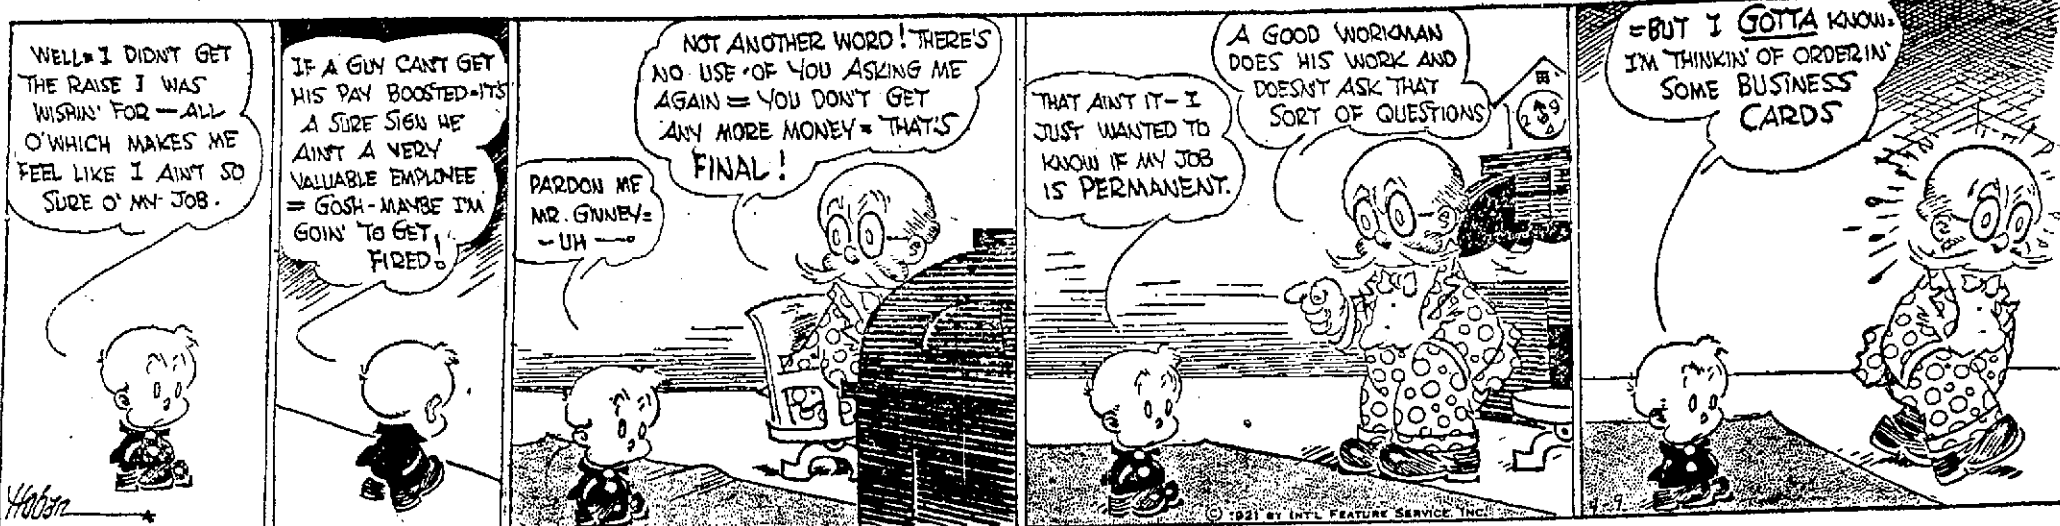

Castalia literary society held an informal debate last evening on "The Honor System at Wisconsin." The discussion was led by Adelaide Anderson '22, and Agnes Palmer '23. The newly elected members were then initiated.

BILLY WHISKERS

When the greyhounds caught up with the St. Bernard they tried to pass, but locked wheels instead and pulled the front ones off of the big dog's cart and down it went, spilling its driver out in the most unceremonious manner. The greyhounds kept straight on, and Betty, hearing them coming, and knowing that she herself could not win, deliberately turned across the road, stopping them as they were about to pass. The hounds were coming at such a rate of speed that they could not stop, neither could Betty's surprised driver pull her aside, for she stood, obstinate and immovable as the traditional mule always stands. The breakage and mix-up she caused can be better imagined than described, for the hounds jumped right over her, cart and all, but alas! the cart they were hatched to struck the other and refused to go over as the greyhounds had done. The sudden jerk loosened the hounds, and they ran off under the fence out of the ring, while their driver lay on his back where he had been thrown by the sudden jolt, while, as for Betty, her driver and the cart, they were all mixed up promiscuously in the broken harness of the hounds.

The greyhounds are a quarrelsome lot, and when one of the kind ones bit the dog in front of him, he turned to retaliate, which jerked the leader back and made him angry, and then they all commenced to snarl and bite with the result before mentioned.

In speaking of it afterward, Betty explained to Billy that she hated hounds and that she was bound they should not win the race, so she decided to stop them long enough for her friend Billy to reach the goal, which he did ahead of all others.

So, after all, this mixed race ended as races of this kind usually do, by the one you least expect to win, getting the blue ribbon.

When Billy and Nannie came in ahead, Billy was so pleased with himself that he nearly wagged his tail off his body. As for Sambo, he tried to look dignified, but as soon as he was out of sight of the crowd, he indulged in several hand-springs and somersaults.

Poor Mammy was so pleased with her boy that she determined to give him a quarter of a dollar all for himself, for this would, in a way, ease her conscience for having scolded him when he lost Billy.

It took but a short time, after the races, for the people to get their different rigs, and start for home, and the road was filled with clouds of rolling dust, kicked up by the horses who were being raced to see who could reach home first, for, in the country, there are chores and milking to do before dark, and so each man tries to get home as early as possible.

Half way home, our party passed Sambo and the goats, literally covered with dust, and just a little further on Cricket and Fleet. The little darkies were driving slowly resting their charges after the unusual excitement of the day, and so it was Violet who first carried the news to the farm that Fleet and her goats had won the blue ribbon prizes. She stayed in the house only long enough to change her dress and shoes and slip into her much-loved gingham and her low-heeled shoes, that felt so comfortable after being dressed up all day. She said she didn't see how city people could stand being fixed up all the time.

On The Side

A LITTLE SLICE O' LIFE
We are very much opposed to absent-minded barbers. And it makes us very nervous To get into a chair and have One of these free-hand barbers Remove our alfalfa. There are barbers who Can shave you while looking Out of the window or While admiring the manicure And swapping gossip with her. We believe that a barber. Of all persons in the world Should keep their minds On their work—especially When they are monkeying Around a customer's neck With a razor that is Reasonably sharp, which Reminds us of a thing That happened to a man In this town some time ago: He was a very homely man, Anyhow and it didn't make Much difference with his looks, But it was a distressing thing. The barber was looking out Of the window, watching a lady In a short skirt who was Crossing the street. Quite accidentally he cut off One of the customer's ears. And he apologized profusely, Being a perfect gent. "Don't apologize," said the man "That's perfectly all right."

I have another ear."

This is the open season for cat killing, but for some strange reason the cat population in our neighborhood has increased about five thousand since the first of the month.

CONFESSON OF A CYNIC.
I enjoy the conversation of many persons, but I am sorry I cannot include the confirmed golfer in the list.

I am very much surprised that I have not heard a word as yet concerning next winter's coal famine. I am about through reading articles by European military men concerning the late war. I would like to forget it.

I believe a man who will sit in a restaurant with his hat on is the same sort of man as the one who forecloses a mortgage on the home of a widow and nine orphans.

I believe now it is about time for the women to begin buying the next winter's hats.

I always enjoy spring poetry very much because I never read it.

BANNERS FOR CARS TO ADVERTISE EXPO

In an effort to carry the Wisconsin Exposition to all parts of the state, the advertising committee has had 300 cloth banners made to be put on the backs of automobiles. Students are urged to come to the Exposition office in the Union building Saturday afternoon from 1:00 to 5:30 o'clock and obtain these banners. They are being made of muslin, and will be one and a half by three feet in size and will have rings attached in order to facilitate their being attached to machines.
